

JUST FIVE DAYS AND 54 MINUTES

From Queenstown To Sandy Hook Lightship
Is The Newest Record Of The Trans-Atlantic Ocean Greyhounds.

LUSITANIA IN PORT THIS MORNING

Mammoth Quadruple-Screw Turbiner Which Brings Old
And New Worlds Closer Together By 6 Hours
And 29 Minutes, Given Enthusiastic Welcome.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Sept. 12.—The mammoth 785 foot quadruple screw Cunard line turbine "Lusitania," carrying her full passenger list of 2,200 and crew of 800, reached Sandy Hook lightship at 8:05 this morning, fulfilling the prediction of those who have been keeping in touch by wireless with her course across the Atlantic and establishing a new steamship record between European ports and New York.
Departing from Queenstown at 12:10
Sunday afternoon, and handicapped by fog and considerable foul weather, the great steamship compassed the voyage in 5 days and 54 minutes, which is 6 hours and 29 minutes better than the Queenstown-New York record held by the "Lucania" of the same line.
The "Lusitania," however, did not beat the average-speed-per-hour record, as both the "Kaiser Wilhelm the Second," with a speed of 23.58 knots,
and the Hamburg-American liner
"Deutschland" with a speed of 23.51
have surpassed the new steamship's
average of 23.01 knots.
Aboard the new glaucous of the seas
were Ernest Cunard, a director of the line, Mrs. Potter Palmer of Chicago, and many other notables. From Sandy Hook up to her pier in the North River the great vessel was accompanied by a big fleet of excursion
boats, yachts, and other craft.
The pilot who had the honor of bringing in the Lusitania through the Ambrose channel today is Frank Kramer of the Sandy Hook Pilots' association. For years he has been piloting vessels of great draught in and out of this port. Kramer guided the Caronia out through the new channel two weeks ago.

Norway, Aboard the Steamer
"Fritjof" Last Evening—
Expedition Abandoned
for This Year.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Trondheim, Norway, Sept. 12.—Walter Wellman arrived at Trondheim last evening aboard the steamer "Fritjof" on his way home. He announced that he had definitely abandoned the expedition for this year, after a disastrous trial of the airship with which he proposed to attempt to reach the north pole.

"JUMPERS" MEETING AT DENVER TODAY

Milwaukee Member of the Sect Says That Everlasting Fire Is the For-cast for Several Well-Known Gentlemen.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 12.—Speck-ula from Denver today announce the opening of the Holy Jumpers convention in Denver, Colo. Denver people have lately been getting a lot of amusement, such as Waukegan of-times enjoys, out of the Jumpers.
They have organized a church there and have made many converts. C.
W. Hawley, who is now in Milwaukee, says the Denver convention will be the first of the kind ever held. He predicts that the Jumpers will invade
New York city, and learns that Mrs.
Adam White, wife of Rev. Kent
White of the Jumpers, now predicts
overhauling fire for Rockefeller, Ryan, Rogers and all the Wall Street magnates. Furthermore, who says the heads of these men are filled with the "humor of Satan."

ANOTHER RECORD IS BROKEN ON ATLANTIC

French Steamer La Provence Beats
Her Own Record Between Havre and New York.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Sept. 12.—The trans-Atlantic record from Havre to New York, which has been held by the French line steamer La Provence for a year, was broken today by an hour
and three minutes by the same steamer when she arrived at New York.
The ship was built in 1901 at St. Nazaire and has a displacement of 18,
000 tons and a horsepower of 28,000.

To Fly For Trophy.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 12.—If the weather conditions are favorable tomorrow there will be a number of balloon ascensions and already flights at the Jamestown exposition tomorrow.
The fact that many of the most noted
aeronauts are now engaged in preparing for the entertainment competitions at St. Louis next month has inflamed somewhat against the success of Aeroplano Day at the exposition, but it is expected that a sufficient number will be on hand to make the occasion one of interest.
Arrangements for the competitions
have been completed by Israel Ludlow, director of aeronautics at the exposition. The feature of the day will be the competition for the Scientific American flying machine trophy,
in which will be entered only flying
machines of the heavier-than-air type.

CLINTON TO BECOME A POULTRY CENTER

Chicago Investors Will Lease Land
and Raise Chickens on Extensive Scale.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Clinton, Wis., Sept. 12.—Earle B.
Hawkes has been in town for several days past getting acquainted with the surrounding country and obtaining options on different pieces of land. He represents a company of Chicago gentlemen who are going into the poultry
business on a large scale. Sunday
three of the company also came out
to look over the different propositions.
Mr. Hawkes had selected and were very much impressed with the outlook. Mr. Hawkes will be manager of the business at this end of the line
and moved his household goods out
today, taking possession of the Mary Graham house on Pleasant street. Mr.
Hawkes has made an excellent impression and the people of Clinton will give him and his family a very hearty welcome.

Mayor W. W. Dalton has purchased the Daniel Shinnell residence on West Milwaukee street and will occupy it
at once.
Clinton L. Collier leaves in a few days for Philadelphia to attend the University of Pennsylvania, having decided not to attend the university
at Madison this year.

Merchants of Clinton have formed a retail dealers' association and the first goal to come therefrom was a plan to close their respective places
of business three nights a week at 7 o'clock, Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights, commencing Oct. 1st. It certainly is a move in the right direction and will be a great treat to the clerk and proprietors alike to spend three evenings a week with their families.

GREAT NORTHWEST'S ANNIVERSARY TODAY

Date of Passage of Ordinance of 1787 Commemorated at Jamestown.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Norfolk, Va., Sept. 12.—This was
"Old Northwest Day" at the Jamestown exposition, commemorating the passage of the ordinance of 1787 by which the Northwest Territory was formed from the state of Virginia. A program designed to be of special interest to visitors from Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin was carried out. Speaking and military and naval parades were features of the day.

Dominion W. C. T. U.

Whitney, Man., Sept. 12.—Whitehouse delegates from every Province of Canada are flocking into Win-thorpe to attend the annual convention
of the Dominion Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The convention will be in session during the next four days and from all indications the gathering will be one of the most notable ever held under the auspices of the Dominion organization. Today was devoted chiefly to the reception of the delegates. The arrivals have found the arrangements for their accommodation and entertainment to be of the most perfect and elaborate character. Many private homes have been thrown open for the accommodation of the visitors. The sessions of the convention are held in Knox church, the spacious auditorium of which has been tastefully decorated for the occasion. In addition to the reports and routine business the convention program calls for addresses by noted W. C. T. U. leaders of both Canada and the United States.
Interpreting the business sessions,
there are to be numerous luncheons,
receptions and other social features.

HEAD OF SALVATION ARMY COMING HERE

General Booth Sails for America to Make Speaking Tour in This Country and Canada.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, Sept. 12.—For the second time within twelve months General William Booth, the venerable head of the Salvation Army, sailed for America today. Last evening he crossed the Atlantic on the liner "Albatross" of a cruiser of the globe. His journey was a hurried one and he made few public appearances. This time he expects to spend two months in the United States and Canada, during which time he will travel about 8000
miles and speak at public meetings
in a large number of the chief cities of the two countries. His tour probably will carry him as far as the Pacific coast, though the complete itinerary will not be arranged until he reaches the other side. Though at seventy-eight he is one of the busiest men in England, General Booth apparently retains a large measure of the vigor and enthusiasm that characterized the work of his earlier
years, when in the face of public ridicule and other discouraging conditions, he founded and built up the great organization which has since made its influence felt throughout the civilized world.

AMERICAN COUNTESS POPULAR IN ENGLAND

Daughter of the Late Levi Z. Lott Giving Week-End Party to English Swells.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, Sept. 12.—Some of England's noblest and most aristocratic men and women of England are taking part in a week-end party at Charlton Park in celebration of the Earl of Suffolk's thirtieth birthday, which occurred today. Lady Suffolk, who was Miss Daisy Lott of Washington, has become quite a favorite in the most exclusive circles of English society and invitations to her parties and other entertainments are eagerly sought. Her father, Levi Z. Lott,
had died shortly before her wedding
and it was a considerable time after their arrival in England before the Earl and Countess were seen much in society. And last year the death of her sister, Lady Curzon, placed her again in mourning, so that though they have been married nearly three years the young couple have not been able to do much entertaining or going about, either at Charlton Park or in London.
Charlton Park, Malmesbury, is a magnificent Jacobian mansion standing in a park of 600 acres with fine old trees. There is a picture gallery of priceless old masters, and Charlton is considered the most beautiful of the Earl of Suffolk's mansions. It was restored in 1774 by the celebrated architect, Inigo Jones.

THIRTEEN CLUB TAKES ADVANTAGE OF DATE

Unique Club of Gotham Gives Annual Dinner Today, "Friday, The Thirteenth."

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Sept. 12.—Friday has fallen today on the thirteenth of the month for the first time this year and the members of the Thirteen Club of this city have joyously welcomed it as a most appropriate occasion for their annual dinner. Members of the Thirteen Club in other cities have been invited to take part and it is safe to say that every superstitious
person in the city will be at the banquet in the evening. For the first time in the history of the organization
there will be thirteen complete tables
with thirteen guests at each.

FORTY MEN HURT BY COAL GAS EXPLOSION

Men Injured at Mouth of Union Pacific
Mine—Twenty Are Seriously Hurt.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Rock Springs, Wyo., Sept. 12.—Forty
men were injured, twenty seriously,
by an explosion of coal gas at the mouth of a coal mine owned by the Union Pacific railway company yesterday. None of the injured men is expected to die.

WHEELMEN ASSEMBLE FOR ANNUAL SPIN

Once Champions of Now Defunct Craze
Take Ride—Banquet Feature of Convention.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Boston, Mass., Sept. 12.—The folks
out there who saw a sight this morning that revived memories of a decade ago when the bicycle was in the height of its popularity. It was the annual assembly of the League of American Wheelmen, and for an hour or two there were more wheelmen
to be seen peddling through the streets than have raised the dust
for many a day.
The annual assembly convened yesterday and the annual meeting was held last night. But there was comparatively little business to be transacted and the dinner that followed the business session was the chief event of the evening. The day when the national assembly attracted thousands of delegates and visitors and the fight for the presidency attracted the attention of the entire country
has apparently passed away forever.
The program this year was made up almost wholly of social events, and when the delegates gathered about
the banquet it was not to discuss business but to recall memories and exchange reminiscences of the "good old days" gone by.

GRAND ARMY BRINGS ENCAMPMENT TO END

Old Settlers Begin to Leave Saratoga
After Most Successful Encampment Ever Held.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Tired as a result of the strenuous week of work and play the Grand Army veterans hardly disposed of their unlimbed business at a brief session this morning and amid a display of great enthusiasm the forty-five national encampment came to an end. The Woman's Relief Corps and other affiliated organizations likewise wound up their business and adjourned. All are loud in their praise of the manner in which the gathering was taken care of and the general verdict is that the encampment has been one of the most successful in the history of the G. A. R. Thousands of the visitors turned their faces homeward today.
For those who have decided to stay
the week out there will be a number of attractive features of entertainment
tonight and all day tomorrow.

WARRING TRIBESMEN WANT PEACE AGAIN

Cablegram Received in Paris States
Warring Tribesmen Reopen
Peace Negotiations.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, Sept. 12.—Marino Minister
Thompson today received a cablegram announcing that the warring tribesmen in the vicinity of Chambanna had reopened negotiations for peace.

CHOOSING NEW DUMA FOR THE THIRD TIME

Third Attempt Now Being Made to Select a Duma That Will Be in Sympathy With Czar's Advisors.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
St. Petersburg, Sept. 12.—All preliminary steps having been taken, the Provincial Electoral Colleges will meet tomorrow to choose the parliamentary representatives for the third Russian Duma, which is to meet in November. Though the fate of Russia's experiment in parliamentary government is at stake public interest in the elections and the assembling of the third Duma is not very keen. The Emperor was gravely disappointed by the results of the first and second elections, neither of which produced
a body capable of working in harmony with his chosen advisors. Should the third Duma fail to prove more satisfactory and result undoubtedly would be that Russia's advance toward a representative form of government
would be set back many years.
Under the changes in the election
law, however, better results are hoped for. Under the new law, the intent of which is to eliminate, as far as possible, the revolutionary and independent elements which brought about the downfall of the first two parliaments, reliance has been placed upon the large land owners and property holders city dwellers, who are the most conservative class in Russia.
The moderate peasantry, whose representatives were easily swayed by revolutionary arguments, have been relocated to a subordinate position,
and there is no chance that the coming Duma will be dominated by the advanced liberal and radical parties.
But at the same time much doubt is expressed as to whether the third Duma will be able to accomplish any more practical or beneficial results
than its predecessors.

HILL AND HARRIMAN WALKED ARM IN ARM

Rival Railroad Magnates Evidenced
the Extreme Pleasantness of Their Private Relations.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Sept. 12.—The night of Sept. 11, Harriman and J. J. Hill, the two greatest rivals in the railroad
world, walking down Fifth street arm
and arm, was witnessed this week.
The news which has just got around caused much wonder and talk in the financial district. It is learned that the meeting was purely accidental and that as a matter of fact the personal relations of the great railroad rivals
have always been of the pleasantest
kind.

RICH CHINAMAN IS TAKEN BY PLAGUE

Chang Mon Wo, President of Chinese
Six Companies at San Francisco,
Latest Victim—Total Deaths 13.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
San Francisco, Calif., Sept. 12.— Chang Mon Wo, president of the Chinese Six Companies, was found dead today in Chinatown. His death was due to the plague. A Greek laborer also died today. The total number of cases to date is 21; deaths, 13. Dr.
Rupert Blue, government expert, says
there is no cause for alarm; that there is no necessity nor any danger
of quarantine against San Francisco.

ARGUMENT AGAINST THE PERMIT FOR MONTGOMERY

To Issue Additional Block Of $300,000 Stock
For Street Railway Extension, Filed
At Madison.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Sept. 12.—The high finance circles of railroad and trust
moguls are riddled in the traction
duels of F. Warren Montgomery, owner of the Madison street car system, according to an argument filed
by the city attorney with the Wisconsin railroad rate commission in opposition to the granting of a certificate of permission sought by the traction man to issue an additional block of $300,000 of stock. The Wisconsin law requires that no stocks or bonds be issued until permission has
to do is granted by the commission,
and the city of Madison declares in opposition to the application that the Madison system, which was purchased by Montgomery three years ago
for about $150,000, has been bonded
by him, through successive reorganizations and issues of stocks and bonds
so that it is encumbered to the sum of $2,000,000, and the issuance of additional securities would postpone the time when the city may reasonably demand reduction of street car fares.
The city declares, from figures filed with the commission by Montgomery,
that he has taken out a personal profit
of nearly $100,000 and wants to make it $500,000 more. In other words it is charged by the city that Montgomery in less than three years plans to realize at the rate of more than $200,000 a year, more than four times
what the president of the United States receives for administering the government. The commission is making a careful investigation of the matter and the city attorney, J. A.
Aylward, who was the democratic candidate for governor a year ago, is convinced that the additional bond issue will not be allowed.

OVER $12,000 TAKEN IN AT FAIR YESTERDAY

Paid Admissions Amounted To Nearly 76,000
And The Splendid Turnout "Saved"
The Enterprise.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 12.—When the gates of the state fair closed last evening the officials found that they had over $12,000 in the treasury. The splendid turnout at the fair saved it.
The officials report that 76,702 people
paid admission to see the fair yesterday. This number with the 6,000 complimentary tickets, employees inside and officials, makes the total attendance about 100,000.
Stock Parade Today
The feature today was the parade of the horses and livestock departments and this afternoon several races are being held, among them the 2:06 pace
in which some of the best horses in the state are entered.
Crooks Under Arrest
Eight suspicious characters are being held at the jail. They were taken from the fair grounds to the police station yesterday and are thought to be noted crooks.
Hack-Drivers Held Up
Two state fair visitors held up and robbed Chas. Fisher, a hack-driver, and took $35, which were his earnings of a day. They gave him back 35 cents so he could buy his ham and eggs this morning.

MANY ARRESTS FOR MILITARY OFFENSES

Fourteen Accused of Betraying Secrets of German Army—Twelve
to Be Tried for Treason.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Coblenz, Prussia, Sept. 12.—Further arrests have been made in connection with the extensive betrayal of military secrets previously referred to in these dispatches. There are now 14
persons in custody of whom twelve including four civilians, one of whom it is said, belongs to the nobility, will be charged with high treason. In the meantime all the prisoners are kept in the closest confinement. The two who will not be arraigned on the charge of high treason will appear as witnesses for the state, but they will not be released before the trial, which
in all probability will be held in secret.

cation for Pardon Made by

HIGH PRICES FOR WINTER MILK CONTRACTS IN GREEN CO.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

probably the top-most price ever offered for milk in this county was attained in contracts made by the Chas. Burden Condensed Milk company
here yesterday. The prices made average $1.50 for six months beginning October 1, the prices being as follows:

cember, $1.55; January, $1.60; February, $1.55, and March, $1.40.

NEGRO TROOPS FOR NEW YORK STATE

GEN. OLIVER ORDERS THE 24TH REGIMENT FROM MANILA.

MAY AROUSE PROTESTS

Other Communities Did Not Want the Colored Soldiers — Army Is Suffering for Lack of Officers.

Washington, Sept. 12.—Gen. Oliver, acting secretary of war, Thursday issued an order that will probably cause a commotion in New York, his home state. It provides for the relief of a number of regiments that have been serving in the Philippines for more than the full allotted term of two years, and the point of interest is found in the fact that among the returning organizations is a negro regiment—the Twenty-fourth Infantry.

With the dispatch to the Philippines of the Twenty-fifth Infantry recently, the United States was left without negro troops except a few short term volunteers employed in the states at the West Point Military Academy.

When the proposition was made about two months ago to return the negro troops, several strong protests were made to the department by congressmen and other prominent persons representing communities where it was reported these troops were to be posted. Gen. Oliver has settled the matter by ordering these soldiers into his own state.

As a matter of fact, on February 25th next, according to the terms of the order, the Twenty-fourth Infantry is to sail from Manila for San Francisco and proceed by rail to New York, headquarters, and two battalions to be stationed at the regimental barracks, near Watertown, and the remaining battalion at Fort Ontario, near Oswego.

More Officers Needed. Six hundred officers of the army are now serving on detached service according to statements made at the war department. Their loss is seriously felt in their regular commands, with the result that a number of the army organizations are inadequately officered. An earnest effort is to be made by the military authorities to have congress remedy this condition of affairs by providing more officers, and Gen. Bell, the chief of staff, will soon take up the matter with a view to recommending legislation for the purpose.

The war department Thursday directed the return to duty as an assistant military aide to the president of Capt. Frank McCoy, Third Cavalry, who has been spending most of the summer in Yellowstone Park with his troop. This means that there are not likely to be any more changes in the president's family of military and naval aides at present.

CLAMPS THE LID DOWN.

Burgess of Pennsylvania Town Will Enforce Sunday Blue Laws.

Johnstown, Pa., Sept. 12.—The town of South Fork, near here, will witness on Sunday the most rigid enforcement of blue laws that has been recorded in some time. Residents opposed to a liberal observance of the Sabbath entered complaint with the burgess, and he went even further than the strictest of Puritans had dreamed. These are some of the things that will result: The ticket agent at South Fork will be compelled to refuse to sell tickets to prospective passengers; the electric light plant will be closed and there will be no light even to conduct evening worship; every store will be closed all day; it will be next to impossible to spend a cent in the place Sunday unless the coin be dropped in the contribution box in the churches.

Maximum Penalty for a Brute. Meadville, Pa., Sept. 12.—Henry Lohm, who confessed to robbery and three assaults on 14-year-old Anna Whitehead at Turnersville, Pa., near here, about a month ago, was sentenced Thursday by Judge Frank J. ## DOG IN SCHOOL BIT WOULD-BE EJECTORS

Principal E. J. Haumerson and James and Emmett Roberty Attacked by Violent Canine.

In attempting to remove an intruding mongrel dog of good size from the main room of the high school building yesterday afternoon, Principal E. J. Haumerson and two students, James Roberty and Emmett Roberty, were badly bitten. The animal had found its way into the building and refused to be called, coaxed or driven out. James Roberty endeavored to drag the canine out by the nape of the neck but the beast showed fight and buried his teeth in the boy's arm. In similar efforts Mr. Haumerson was bitten on the leg and Emmett Roberty suffered a laceration of one arm. Finally in a free-for-all set-to James Roberty caught the dog by the hind legs and carried it out bodily. No trouble is expected from the wounds as the dog showed no signs of the rabies though very vicious.

Washington, Sept. 12.—The battle ship Kansas, after ship to the Vermont, has just completed her speed trials, and while her record is slightly below that of her sister ship and a trifle below the 18-knot speed which the ship was required to make in her acceptance trial several months ago, it is said at the navy department that her record is entirely satisfactory. Capt. Sutherland, president of the trial board on board of the ship, reported to the navy department Thursday by wireless via Provincetown, Mass., as follows:

"Kansas finished successful steaming and gun trials. The average speed for four hours with full power was 17.81 knots, and for 24 hours endurance trial 17.99 knots."

DEFAULTER AFRAID TO KILL HIMSELF

C. E. LITTON OF NEW ORLEANS IS TAKEN ON BANK OF RIVER.

GAVE MONEY TO NEGRESS

She Had Bought Real Estate with the $107,000 He Stole from the Tax Collector's Office.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 12.—Charles E. Litton, chief clerk in the office of the first district tax collector here, who disappeared several days ago, leaving a shortage of over $100,000, was discovered Thursday afternoon standing on the bank of the Mississippi trying to summon up courage enough to jump in the water and commit suicide. He said he had started toward the water several times, but each time his courage had failed him. He made a full confession.

Reading About His Case.

The man who saw Litton standing on the river bank reported his discovery to the police and when the officers arrived they found Litton seated under an umbrella, reading an account of his defection in a morning paper. He said he had found the sun very hot and between his efforts to summon courage enough to commit suicide had sat beneath the umbrella and read of his big theft.

Litton said when carried before the inspector of police and the grand jury that he had spent the greater part of the money he had taken, on a negro woman who lives in a handsomely furnished house in the old French quarter of the city and who is said to have bought considerable real estate. Litton says the greater part of the money he had given her had been invested in realty, only a comparatively small amount being devoted to her living expenses.

Shortage Is About $107,000.

According to the last estimate Litton is about $107,000 short in his accounts. For two days, he said, he had been hiding in the woods along the river while the police of half a dozen southern cities were searching for him.

Virginia Reed, the negress in the case, was arrested Thursday and held as a witness. An attempt will be made to indict her as a principal in the defection. Her will, a copy of which was obtained, showed that she had made provision to give much of the stolen money to a church and an orphanage. Litton had 83 cents in his possession when arrested.

STEAMER SIGHTED ON REEF.

Supposed to Be a Freighter of the Munson Line.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 12.—A steamer stranded on the Cayce Reef off the Florida south coast was sighted on Sept. 10 by the steamer El Dia, which arrived here Thursday from New York. The El Dia did not stand by to learn anything of the plight of the stranded vessel and was too far away to make out her name or how many persons were on board. The funnels of the steamer indicated that she was a Munson Line boat. She grounded far out of the line of regular travel of Munson line steamers carrying passengers, and in waters usually pilled by freighters of this line.

Louis Gourdain Goes Insane. Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 12.—Louis A. Gourdain, the eccentric millionaire who attracted much notoriety by declaring that unless the court sent him to jail he would build a prison and be his own warden, became insane at the federal prison here, and was taken Thursday to Washington, where he will be placed in the government insane asylum.

Banker Killed in Auto Wreck. Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 12.—President John Ruppert, of the Metropolitan National bank of Pittsburgh, is dead, and Dr. M. C. Cameron, a prominent physician of this city, is seriously injured as a result of the latter's automobile coming into collision with a telegraph pole late Thursday. The steering gear broke and Dr. Cameron lost control of the machine.

Johnson Has No Presidential Bee. St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 12.—"I am not a presidential candidate, and I do not intend to become one," was the emphatic declaration made by Gov. John A. Johnson Thursday to a party of prominent Nebraskans who came to the capitol to present three invitations to Gov. Johnson to speak in Nebraska. The governor declined all three of the invitations.

Swedish Methodists Meet.

Burlington, Ia., Sept. 12.—The fourteenth annual session of the Western Conference of the Swedish Methodist Episcopal church began here Thursday. The conference embraces Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Minnesota, Wyoming and South Dakota. About 200 delegates are in attendance.

Wire Slider Dangerously Hurt.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 12.—Harry Gillette, who slides down a wire from a tower 80 feet high and plunges into a tank of water, as the feature attraction for Winona's street fair, Thursday in view of 10,000 spectators, missed the tank and was dashed to the pavement. His injuries may prove fatal.

THE OPAL SERPENT

BY FERGUS HUME

Author of "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab," "The Mandarin's Fan," etc.

Illustrated By Parker

This is a story of the unlucky opal. The scene is laid in London, the theatre of so many charming stories from Dickens down to the present writer.

But never was a tale of more amazing originality and absorbing interest spun out of the complex life of the Anglo-Saxon metropolis than this.

It is essentially a story of mystery. It is the elusive secret of the mysterious brooch with the opal serpent which holds the reader spell bound from beginning to end.

Interesting as is the sweet love affair of Paul and Sylvia, the reader almost loses sight of it in the fascination of the serpent, the opal serpent on a brooch, which left a trail of crime.

There is a bright detective far above the average in the case but he did not come anywhere near solving the mystery.

BEGINS IN OUR THIS ISSUE

OVER THE ANDES MOUNTAINS.

Hard Travel When Peaks are Mass of Ice and Snow.

In winter hundreds of men, mounted on skis, are employed by the Chilean and Argentine governments, carrying the mails over the Andes mountains. In summer this work is done by men and small, agile donkeys; but in winter the great peaks are a mass of snow and ice, and only the skimon can traverse them.

Skis, are, of course, the long wooden runners so much used in Norway. Each of the mail-carriers has, also, a long balancing pole, with a leather sled fixed near to its lower end, to prevent the pole from sinking too deeply in, when, for balancing, steering or stopping purposes, it is pressed into the frozen snow.

There is something else. A man may accidentally drop his balancing pole, and his ski may then run away with him. Or, striking a rock, a ski may be shattered, and its wearer begin to tumble over and over down the mountain-side. Therefore, some of the men, working in pairs, carry a lasso, or long-rope with a noose. When such a mishap as this occurs, the other mountain skimon, as he himself comes gliding swiftly down the hill-side, will lasso his threatened traveling companion, and so save him from injury, maybe, even from death itself.

TENDER VICTIM OF CUPID.

Disgrace and Death Result of Hungarian Boy's Infatuation.

An amazing story of fatal boyish infatuation comes from Szeged, Hungary. The hero and the victim was a youth of fifteen named Ernst Dautsch, attending the technical school. This young gentleman had fallen so desperately in love with a still younger lady of 13 that nothing less than daily verses and bouquets would meet the case. The bouquets were obtained "on tick" from a florist, who after a few weeks became so insistent for his money that the boy paid him with money given him for his quarter's school fees. The school rector was told that the two youngsters would be paid together at the end of the term, but the bouquets went on, and the money for the next term also going to the florist, there was an exposure, and seeing himself exposed to ridicule of the school, as well as to his father's anger the lad shot himself through the heart with a portrait of the girl before him.

GREEN STUFF ON SHIPBOARD.

Cress is a Great Factor for Keeping Sailors in Health.

This scene is one that may be witnessed in vessels exploring the Arctic or Antarctic oceans.

To keep the crews of these ships in good health, fresh vegetables are of the utmost use. And most valuable of all is cress, for it has a great medicinal value, and is grown rapidly.

Such expeditions, then, take with them large quantities of cress seed, and the picture shows the peculiar manner in which the useful vegetable is raised.

The seed is sprinkled upon a thick, warm blanket, and is watered several times a day—we notice a fine-clad sailor, carrying out the operation—with warm water. Thus the cress thrives wonderfully, and the product of this, the Polar explorers' "wooden kitchen garden," is much appreciated by all the hardy heroes who partake of it.

A unique record for regular school attendance has been established by a family named Rothend, residing at Northampton, England, five of the children having earned 29 medals.

John Henry at the Races

By HUGH McHUGH
(George V. Hobart)

I was anxious to make Clara Jane think that she was all the money, so I bolted out a few plunks, trotted over to the trolley, and rushed her to the race track.

I'm a dab on the dope, but it was my play to be a Wise Boy among the stakes on this particular occasion, and I went the whole distance.

In the presence of my lady love I knew every horse that ever pulled a harrow.

I can't tell how a slob will cut the guy-ropes and go up in the air just because his baby is by his side?

No—to the mountain tops!

Before the car got started I was telling her how Pittsburgh Phil and I

"He'll be 80 to 1 and it's a killing."

win $18,000 last summer on a fried fish they called "Benzino."

Then I confided to her the fact that I doped a turtle named "Pink Toes" to win the next day, but he went over the fence after a loose bunch of grass and I lost $23,680.

She wanted to know what I meant by dope, and I told her it generally meant a sour dream, but she didn't seem to grab.

When we got to the track they were bunching the bones for the first race, so I told Clara Jane I thought I'd crawl down to the ring and plaster two or three thousand around among the needy.

"Two or three thousand, and no with nothing but a five-spot in my jeans and with the return ticket money in that!"

"Are you really going to bet?" she asked.

"Sure!" I said; "I've got a pipot!"

"Well, I hope you won't smoke it near me. I hate pipes!" she said.

"All right; I'll take my pipe down to the betting ring and smoke it there!" I said, and we parted good friends.

In front of the grand stand I met Nash Martindale.

He was holding a bunch of poppies and he picked out one in the first race and handed it to me.

"A skitch!" said Nash. "Go as far as you like."

Then Nash dove into a cataleptic state and handed me the winner—a block. It couldn't go wrong unless it's feet fell out.

"Here you are, John Henry, the real Pietro!" said Nash Roberts; "play Pump Handle straight and place! It's the road to wealth—believe me! All the others are behind the hill!"

Every breezy boy I met had a different bunch and they called me into the wharf and unloaded.

I figured it out that if I had but five dollars on each good thing they gave me I would have lost $100,000.

Then I ducked under, sopped up a

"Write Your Own Ticket, Then You to the World!" said Tommy.

stein of root beer and climbed up again to the hurricane deck.

"Did you bet?" inquired Clara Jane. "Only $730," I said; "A mere bag o' shells."

I leave a call for 7:30 every morning and I suppose that's the reason I was so swift with the figures.

"My! what a lot of money!" said the Fair One; "do point out the horse you bet on! I shall be awfully interested in this race!"

Carlo! you're a bad dog—lie down! I pointed out the favorite as the one I had my bundle on, and explained to Clara Jane that the only way it could lose was for some sore-head to get out and turn the track around.

Sure enough the favorite galloped into port and dropped anchor six hours ahead of the other claims.

I win over $2,200—conversation money—and Bonnie Brighteyes was in a frenzy of delight.

She wanted to know if I wasn't going to be awfully careful with it and save it up for a rainy day.

I told her yes, but I expected we'd have a storm that afternoon.

I had a nervous chill for fear she'd declare herself in on the ruse-off.

But she didn't, so I excused myself and backed down the ladder to cash in.

The boys were all out in the inquest room trying to find out what killed the dead ones.

Then they stopped apologizing to themselves and began to pick things out of the next race and push them up their sleeves.

I ran across Harry Maddy and he took me up to the roof with a line of talk about a horse called "Pretty Boy" in the last race.

"He'll be over 80 to 1 and it's a killing," Harry insisted. "Get down to the bank when the doors open and grab all you can. Take a satchel and the tool-box and haul it away."

I was beginning to be impressed. "Put a floor on 'Pretty Boy,'" Harry continued, "and you'll find yourself dropping over in the Pierp Morgan class before sun down."

"This may be a real Alexander," I said to myself.

"Pretty Boy can stop in the stretch to do a song and dance and still win by a bunch of houses," Harry informed me.

I began to think hard. "Don't miss it," said Harry. "It's a moral that if you play him you'll die rich and disgraced, like our friend Andy, the Host Monk!"

When I got back to the stand I had a preoccupied air.

The five-spot in my jeans was crawling around and begging for a change of scene.

When Clara Jane asked me how much I had bet on the race just about to start I could only think of $600.

When she wanted to know which horse I pointed my finger at every toad on the track and said "that one over there!"

At the end of the third race I was $19,218 to the good.

Clara Jane had it down in black and white on the back of an envelope in figures that couldn't lie.

She said she was very proud of me, and that's where my finish bowed politely and stood waiting.

She told me that it was really very wrong to bet any more after such a run of luck, and made me promise that I wouldn't wring another dollar from the trembling hands of the poor bookmakers.

I promised, but she didn't notice that I had my fingers crossed.

I simply had to have a roll to flash on the way home, so I took my lonely V and went out to the Promised land.

"A skitch!" said Nash. "Go as far as you like."

Land after the nuggets Maddy had put me wise to.

"It will be just like getting money from Uncle Peter," I figured.

"A small steak from 'Pretty Boy,'" I said to Wise Samuel, the bookmaker; "what's doing?"

Wise Samuel gave me the gay look-over.

"Take the ferry for Sioux Falls!" he said.

"Six on the smart talk, Sammy!" I said; "Me for the Pretty Boy! How much?"

"A bundle for a bite—you're on a cold plate!" whispered Wise Samuel, but he couldn't throw me.

"I don't see any dericks to hold the price with," I tapped him.

"Write your own ticket, then you to the woods!" said Sammy.

In a minute my floor was up and I was on the card to win $500 when my cute one came romping home.

I went back to Clara Jane satisfied that in a few minutes I'd have a roll big enough to choke the tunnel.

"Not having any money on this race you can watch it without the least excitement, can't you?" she said.

I said yes, and all the while I was scrapping with a lump in my throat the size of my fist.

When the horses got away with Pretty Boy in front I started in to stand on my head, but chucked my mind and swallowed half the program.

Pretty Boy at the quarter! Me for Hector's till they put the shutters up!

Pretty Boy at the half! Me down to Tiffany's in the morning dragging thras away in a drag!

Pretty Boy at the three-quarter pole! Me doing the free library gag all over the place!

But just as they came in the stretch Pretty Boy forgot something and wout back after it.

The rough quit me cold at the very door of the safety deposit vaults.

I was under the water a long time. Finally I heard Clara Jane say, "Isn't it lucky you didn't bet on this race. I believe you would have picked that foolish looking horse that stopped over there to bite the fence!"

"I'm done! turn me over!" I murmured, and then I rushed down among the ramblers and made a swift touch for the price of a couple of rides home.

On the way back Clara Jane made me promise again that I'd be awfully, awfully careful of my $19,218.

I promised her I would.

CIVIL SERVICE

The postmasters of the state met in convention in Milwaukee this week and discussed questions of interest, among them the civil service force, connected with the department.

It was the unanimous opinion that, so far as the rural service is concerned, the postmasters should be permitted to select the carriers, without regard to civil service examinations, and it is safe to say that the same sentiment prevails concerning office employees.

The department is handicapped to such an extent by civil service regulations that the postmaster is simply a figurehead, deprived of all authority and the laughing stock of his subordinates.

It is humiliating to any man of intelligence, and detrimental to efficient service. The law is one of those theoretical monstrosities, the progeny of political economy as taught in the textbooks, an impractical as it is vicious. The only law that insures good service is the law adopted by the business world, which places competent men in authority, gives them full swing, and then holds them responsible.

The business of the government should be conducted the same as any other business. A man may be able to pass a civil service examination and be thoroughly incompetent to discharge the duties assigned him. The passing of an examination, is the cheapest kind of an endorsement, as has frequently been demonstrated by boards of education.

Worse than the question of incompetency is the feature of the law which protects incompetents, and deprives the postmaster of authority. Civil service reform is a farce from any viewpoint, and the sooner it is abolished from all departments of government work, where expert knowledge is not required, the better for the service.

WHO PAYS THE FREIGHT.

The notion is quite common, that every dollar taken from a railroad, by way of reduction in freight charges, is divided among the people. That is the theory, and that is why the fight on railroads is so popular.

But what are the facts? In the state of Georgia the last legislature passed a law which deprived the railroads of $2,000,000 in freight charges. Classification were changed, and from the city of Atlanta a reduction of $27 was made on our rates of merchandise between that city and New York.

The tax commissioner of the state has interested himself in watching results, and in a late report said that the people were paying as much for their goods as ever, while the law had simply transferred $2,000,000 from the railroad treasury to the treasury of the merchants and manufacturers.

He had no sympathy for the railroads, however, and favored the passage of a 2-cent passenger fare, so that all the people might be benefited.

People not only in Georgia, but everywhere else, have yet to discover that they are growing wealthy because of railroad agitation and legislation. The two-cent fare may induce travel, but traveling at any price is a luxury, and transportation is the cheapest part of it.

The legislature of Georgia confiscated two million dollars from the railroads of that state and gave it to the merchants and manufacturers, while the people continue to pay the freight.

The good road movement has taken on definite form, through the state organization just perfected at the state fair. No better man could have been found than W. D. Hoard, the new president, to promote the enterprise. The next 10 years should accomplish much for the state in this much-needed improvement.

The game-warden should take a day off and protect the farmers in the northern part of the state from the deer ravages. The open season is so well established that the deer are said to be as tame as kittens and a good deal more of a nuisance around the farm.

There will be no organized opposition against the "favorite son" movement. Wisconsin's candidate is persistent but not dangerous. The state delegation can save its reputation by swinging in line for Taft, when the time comes.

Nature came to the relief of the state fair officials, and the bright sun and clear sky of yesterday and today saved the association from financial loss. The fair was in every way a success including the political contingency.

When the automobile is perfected it will be supplied with an emergency brake that will work automatically, and prevent its backing on a hill until released. This would save many serious accidents.

In spite of the tight money market the 40-million bond issue of New York city has been subscribed several times over, and a good premium will be realized. More than 1000 bids were received.

Secretary Taft is off for the Philippines, but his boom for the presidency goes on. Unless the president becomes a candidate, Taft has practically a clear field.

The friends of ex-Congressman Minor are urging him to be a candidate against Gustave Knutson, the German contingent, who defeated him in the last campaign.

Just where Lieutenant Governor Connor will get off is not easy to determine. He seems to be out and injured, but still in the ring.

HE KNEW THE GENTLEMAN

Scotch Visitor by no Means a Stranger to Daniel Webster.

Daniel Webster once invited Charles Harding, the artist, to dine with him. The day before the dinner another friend sent Harding a bottle of rare old Scotch whiskey. When Harding went to Webster's home next day he took this bottle with him, knowing how highly his host would prize it, leaving it on the hall table, he entered the parlor.

"Good evening, Mr. Harding," said Webster. "Good evening, Mr. Webster," said Harding. "I have taken the liberty of bringing an old Scotch friend with me."

"I am very glad you did," responded Webster, "where is the gentleman?" "He is in the hall," said Harding. "Will you go out and see him?" "Yes, sir," said Webster. So they went out together.

"Here he is, sir," said Harding, pointing to the bottle.

"Ah," said Webster, smiling, "this is the gentleman who bathes in hot water."

Too Eager to Get Well.

Because he was ill and wanted to get well without delay, Anson Bisset, 17 years old, of Paterson, N. J., recently swallowed 16 pills. Soon after taking the pills he went to a drug store, where he told a clerk that he believed he had taken too much medicine. His eyes were bulging from his head and his throat was so swollen from the action of belladonna in the pills that it was impossible to force a stomach pump down. He was taken to the general hospital. The physicians said there was enough strychnine in the 16 pills to kill two men, but Bisset has a chance for recovery.

MEDICINE IN CUBA

SIMPLE METHODS OF PLANTATION PHYSICIANS.

Prescription Unable to Cure Christado on Earth Was to Be Given Another Chance in the Next World.

"When I first went to Cuba to manage a sugar plantation," said the Boston man, "I knew nothing about the customs prevailing among the hands. I soon found that each worker contributed so much per month to a purse to employ a doctor in case of illness. The doctor had an office at the works and was considered a great man. It was about four weeks before I had an opportunity to size him up professionally. Then one day a hand came in and said to him:

"Doctor, Christado has been taken with the sickness."

"So?" queried the man of medicine. "Then give him this pill!"

"The man went away, but in the course of an hour he returned to announce:

"Doctor, Christado has been taken with more of the sickness."

"So?" Then give him another pill!"

"The man came the third time to announce that Christado was worse of the sickness, and was sent away with a third pill. He finally returned for the fourth time and said:

"Then Give Him This Pill."

"Doctor, I have to announce that Christado is dead of the sickness."

"So?" "He took the pills?"

"He faithfully did."

"And they did not cure him?"

"They faithfully did not."

"Then it only remains to bury him and the rest of the box with him that he may get better in heaven."

The Simulated Poet.

The most idiotic specimen of male humanity who ever trod the face of this globe, by allowing his hair to grow two or three inches beyond the recognized standard, would immediately convince numberless women that he possessed a poetic soul.—London Gentlewoman.

Music in Sea Shells.

How many children know what causes the booming sound in a sea shell when it is placed against the ear? The hollow, polished inner parts of the shell catch all the sounds about it and echo them, muffled in a measure. A sea shell is therefore an instrument of the delusive spirit.—Pelo.

Where Electricity Falls.

Comparative tests of electricity and pneumatic drills have resulted overwhelmingly in favor of the latter. This is a very severe service and the electric drill does not seem to stand up under it, and time is constantly lost in making repairs to the machinery.

ARSON, FRAUD AND PERJURY

THREE CHARGES MAY BE PRE-FERRED AGAINST DAVID
MOORE FARM TENANT.

HEARING THIS AFTERNOON

State Fire Marshal Purcell and Attorney John Cunningham Sweated Out William Clark.

It is probable that three charges—arson, obtaining money under false pretenses and perjury—will be preferred against William Clark, the tenant on the David Moore farm, near Antioch, where the barn and other out-buildings were burned to the ground July 25 and the house destroyed by fire the next day. Clark will be given a hearing on the arson charge at four o'clock this afternoon. An investigation of the alleged incendiary charges, the subsequent sale of salvage and securing of insurance from the La Prairie Fire Insurance company, was held in Beloit yesterday. The inquiry was in charge of District Attorney Fisher, State Fire Marshal Thomas M. Purcell, Attorney John Cunningham of this city and Sheriff L. D. Fisher, several witnesses, among whom were two neighboring farmers and a hired man on the Moore farm, were examined. It is alleged that Clark, a resident of the city, bought the chickens that were supposed to have been consumed in the barn fire but whether he received them alive, roasted or otherwise, remains to be developed at the trial. This morning Clark and his wife were brought to Janesville by the authorities. Purcell and Cunningham spent the morning putting Clark through a searching process at the county jail and this afternoon the same two are examining Mrs. Clark at Mr. Cunningham's office. Attorney Adams of Beloit has been retained by the defense.

SCHUMAKER AGAIN FAILING RAPIDLY

Appearance at the Trial of Florence Dugan on October 28 Is Extremely Doubtful.

George Schumaker has been failing perceptibly of late, and his appearance at the trial of Florence Dugan on Oct. 28 is scarcely to be expected. The gangster, which at one time appeared to have been checked, is spreading rapidly and it is necessary to administer four or five grain doses of morphine daily in order to partially alleviate his suffering. After his removal to the home of his parents a question arose as to who was to bear the expense of continued medical attendance, the task of dressing the diseased portion of his body being a dangerous and difficult operation required daily attention. The matter was set at rest this week when the committee of the county board having the subject in hand paid Dr. G. C. Waudlin $125 a week up to the time of the trial with the understanding that the same should be paid fifty cents each a week, making up the total of $17.

MADISONIANS PLEASED WITH PROF. W. H. LAKE'S ORCHESTRA

The Majestic theatre orchestra at Madison, with Prof. William H. Lake of Janesville leading the baton, is making a very favorable impression in the Capital City, as evidenced by the following from a recent issue of the Madison Democrat: "The new orchestra was highly complimented by the visitors of the theatre. Last night the members are accomplished musicians. W. H. Lake, the director, is a man of much musical ability and a capable director."

Redingote of Blue Tussor.

There was a pretty redingote worn at Pro Cathala at ten times the other afternoon, says a Paris correspondent. The material was a heavy blue tussor, and there was a collar of Irish lace, embroidered in jet, and a soft belt of black silk, with a smart bow and buckle behind. The skirts of the garment were slashed—in fact, they consisted of two wide slash pieces behind and two in front, and the top was very full, with big plaits making the sleeves. This belted garment is a distinct novelty. The gown worn with it was lovely. It was of a soft gray tussor and flut, with a lot of self-embroidery. The hat was a mass of some fluffy gray and white feathers on a light-weight black straw. There were gray suede gloves and a gray, white embroidered Japanese parasol.

Dainty Hats of Bamboo.

A delightful summer hat which weighs only a few ounces is of bamboo straw which, though it closely resembles pith, is even lighter in weight. Some very fetching models are being shown at a Fifth Avenue shop, says a writer in Dress. They are trimmed with long silk scarfs on which are applique designs in silks of contrasting colors. They are tied in loose bows and sometimes have finely fringed ends. As these hats can be bent any shape to suit the face, they are particularly desirable. They can be made either rakish looking or demure, hence they become us all.

Silk Jumper Waists.

Many of the silk jumper waists with deep yoke effect and openwork over the shoulders are trimmed with small black buttons, while horizontal stripes of black ribbon cross the white waist beneath the jumper, producing a checked effect on the waist. The small shoulder pieces are outlined with black ribbon to match the rest of the waist, and it is mostly worn with a black skirt or one noticeable for its black trimming.

Braid Trimmings.

Braids are indeed increasing in rather than falling from favor, and will play an important part in autumn trimmings. A gown prepared for Cowan week by an English society woman is of white serge, made with a semi-fitting cutaway coat braided and displaying a waistcoat of Bulgarian embroidery, with a tracery of gold thread.

NONE CAN DRAW TWO SALARIES

PRINCIPLE APPLIED TO MINOR STATE EMPLOYEES WORKING AT FAIR DURING VACATIONS.

CAUSES A BIG COMMOTION

University Professors Will Be Hard Hit If This Law, Which Has Caused Counties and Cities So Much Trouble, Is Strictly Enforced.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Sept. 12.—The action of the state civil service commission in holding up the salaries of minor state employees who have been working at the state fair in Milwaukee this week will cause a big commotion. These employees, who are clerks and watchmen in the capitol, spent part of their annual vacations at the state fair and accepted employment under the fair management as gate tenders and special policemen under agreement to be paid for their services. The state treasurer is treasurer of the state fair and the civil service commission called upon him to refuse payment of the salaries of these men until an investigation could be made and the attorney general had ruled on the point of whether or not this constituted violation of the statute which forbids the drawing of more than one salary from the state government at one time. The employees affected declare that the action of the commission will open up the question of application of salaries by university professors and others who are known to be drawing salaries as professors in the university and as special agents and assistants of various commissions and boards in the state government. Some of the employees assert that they are willing to admit that a strict application of the non-duplication law will prevent them from getting pay for their services at the state fair, but that they will see to it that the university professors who draw as high as $2,000 a year from the state for special expert services in addition to their salaries as teachers will be subjected to the same law. The developments are altogether assured of being extremely interesting.

OPTION ON STREET RAILWAY RENEWED

H. H. Clough, Promoter of Proposed Janesville-Madison Interurban, Still Active.

It is reported that H. H. Clough of Elyria, Ohio, and his associates, who propose to build an electric interurban line from Janesville to Madison and have secured a franchise here and the right-of-way to the limits of the Capital City, have renewed their option on the Janesville street railway system. The original option was to expire September 15, but the Clough people have come to an agreement with the Union Trust of Philadelphia, who own the local line, making December 15 the date of expiration. This means that Mr. Clough has by no means abandoned his plan for the road and is still seeking to interest capital in the proposition.

IMPURE BLOOD.

If you could see inside the stomachs of most people who suffer from impure blood you would wonder that they are not suffering worse. The undigested portion of food eaten day after day is still lying there, fermenting, causing the intestines. From this disgusting mass the blood must derive nourishment to carry every organ of the body. Think of it. Is it any wonder their complexion is bad, their breath offensive, their bowels inactive and their health impaired in every way? Is it any wonder that they can get no relief from blood purifiers, purgatives when as fast as the blood is cleaned it is tainted again? Try a rational treatment. Take something to help the stomach rid itself of this stagnant mass and to keep it from accumulating. Then see if you don't improve. One bottle of Cooper's New Discovery will prove my words to you. I have seen hundreds of just such cases and here's one of them.

"About a year ago my little son, who is nearly four years of age, suffered an attack of scarlet fever. Soon after he contracted what we thought was some form of eczema. Sores and blotches broke out on him and he became weak and prostrate."

"We tried physicians and medicines but nothing seemed to help him until several weeks ago we started to give him Cooper's New Discovery and noticed an improvement almost immediately. After a few doses we noticed his appetite was better and gradually his little face assumed a brighter appearance. His skin is now cleared up and I want to thank you sincerely for what the medicine has done for him." Mrs. Herman Hahn, 823 Johnson St., Nashville, Tenn.

Ask us about Mr. Cooper's famous medicine. We are the agents.

"Resolved, That economical building requires the use of machinery, and to this end every town should own one or more road graders and a road roller; good business methods call for the payment of road taxes in cash as experience has shown that for more work is accomplished with a cash tax partly invested in machinery than with a labor tax of twice the amount or more; we recommend a cash system for discussion and adoption at town meetings."

"Resolved, That the building of roads is a science worthy of study and of conscientious application to rural highways; we endorse the establishment of the bureau of road building in connection with the state geological survey and the action of the legislature in providing means to enable said bureau to construct sample roads as object lessons; all town officers should obtain a manual of road building published by said bureau for free distribution; we heartily approve the discussion of road building at the farmers' institutes and recommend the subject for study in the agricultural course at the state university."

Congressman W. H. Stafford suggested that automobile licenses be raised from $1 to $5 in exchange for a state aid fund to be evenly apportioned among the counties for the making of good roads.

He was staggered somewhat by hearing an enthusiastic shout: "Good boy, Cary."

Gustav Kuusela, Green Bay, suggested that prizes be offered to stimulate the farmers in the making of good roads until state aid could be obtained.

By FERGUS HUME,

Author of "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab," "The Mandarin's Fan," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY G. W. BILLINGHAM COMPANY

Fergus Hume, author of the celebrated novel "The Mystery of a Hansom Cab" and other tales of mystery, has written no more absorbing story than the one that follows. Mr. Hume has the ability to make his characters as well as his incidents interesting. There are characters in this story which the reader will be unable to forget—the two Beauts, sweet Sylvia Norman, old Norman, Pash, Hurd, Miss Qian, Mrs. Krill and her stately daughter, and last, but not least, Debbie Junk, whose name, if she had appeared in one of Dickens' novels, would have been familiar to all Christendom. With beauty and grace Debbie is not endowed, and her grammar is defective, but she has a gift of speech that an orator might envy. She is a tyrant, it must be admitted, but her heart is of gold, and she has courage and devotion which would add luster to any hero or heroine in fiction or in real life. And now this trampster will stand aside, welcoming you, ladies and gentlemen, to the feast of comedy, mystery and tragedy which lies before you.

CHAPTER I.

SIMON BEECOT was a country gentleman with a small income, a small estate and a mind considerably smaller than other. He dwelt at Wargrave, in Essex, and spent his idle hours, of which he possessed a daily and nightly twenty-four, in snoring at his faded gavel and in snapping between whistles at his son. Mr. Beecot, having been bullied into old age long before his time, accepted sour looks and hard words as necessary to God's providence, but Paul, a fiery youth, resented useless nagging. He owned more brain power than his progenitor, and to this favoring of nature paternalism naturally objected. Paul also desired fame, which was likewise a crime in the Beecot family eyes. As there were no other children Paul was heir to the Beecot acres; therefore their present proprietor suggested that his son should wait with idle hands for the falling in of the inheritance. In plain words, Mr. Beecot, coming of a long line of middle class butlers, wished his son to be a butler also. Again, when Mr. Beecot retired to a fearful rest he fully found Paul a useful person on whom to expend his spleen. Should this whipping boy leave Mr. Beecot would have to forego this enjoyment, as servants object to being sworn at without cause. For years Mr. Beecot indulged in bouts of bad temper till Paul, finding twenty-five too lighted an age to tolerate abuse, announced his intention of returning London as a scribbler.

The parents objected in detail. Mrs. Beecot, after her kind, dissolved in tears and made reference to young birds leaving the nest, while her husband, puffing out like a frog and redder than the wattles of a turkeycock, exhausted himself in well chosen expressions. Paul increased the use of those by fixing a day for his departure. The family Beecot retired to bed with the assistance of a maid, burnt feathers and sat volatile, and the male as a last and clinching argument figuratively buttoned up his pockets.

"Not one syllable will you get from me," said Beecot senior, with the graceful addition of vigorous adjectives.

"I don't ask for money," said Paul, keeping his temper, for, after all, the turkeycock was his father. "I have saved £30. Not out of my pocket money," he added hastily, seeing further objections on the way. "I earned it by writing short stories."

"The confounded mercantile instinct!" snorted paternalism, only he used stronger words. "Your mother's uncle was in trade. Thank heaven, none of my people ever used hands or brains! The Beecots lived like gentlemen."

"I should say like cabbage from your description, father."

"No insolence, sir. How dare you disgrace your family? Writing tales, indeed! Rubbish I expect! There several adjectives. And you took money, I'll be bound, oh, oh!"

"I have just informed you that I took all I could get," said Beecot quietly. "I'll live in town on my savings. When I make a name and a fortune I'll return."

"Never, never!" gabbled the turkeycock. "If you descend to the gutter had never seen. "As near heaven as I am likely to get," rattled on Beecot, dully trying the sausages after placing his visitor on the sofa. "The grub will soon be ready. I'm a first class cook, bless you, old chap. Housewife too, Clean, oh?" He waved his fork proudly round the ill furnished room. "I'd dis-miss myself if it wasn't."

"But—but," stammered Hay, much amazed and surveying things through an eyeglass, "what are you doing here?"

"Trying to get my foot on the first rung of fame's ladder."

"But I don't quite see"—"Read Balzac's life and you will. His people gave him an attic and a starvation allowance in the hope of disgusting him. But the allowance, my father has done the same. There's the attic, and here's my starvation!"

Paul gayly popped the frizzling sausages on a clipped hot plate—"and here's your aspiring servant hoping to be a novelist, dramatist and what-not—to say nothing of why not, Mustard? There you are. Wait a bit. I'll brew you tea or cocoa."

"I never take those things with me, Beecot."

"Your bit assures me of that. Champagne's more in your line. I say, Grexon, what are you doing now?"

"What other vest end men do," said Grexon, attacking a sausage. "That means nothing. Well, you never did work at Torrington, so how can I expect the leopard to change his waxy spots?"

Hay laughed and during the meal explained his position. "On leaving school I was adopted by a rich uncle," he said. "When he went the way of all flesh he left me a thousand a year, which is enough to live on with strict economy. I have rooms in Alexander street, Camden Hill, a circle of friends, and a good appetite, as you will perceive. With these I get through life very comfortably."

"Ha," said Paul, darting a keen glance at his visitor, "you have the strong digestion necessary to happiness. Have you the hard heart also? If I remember at school?"

"Oh, hang school!" said Grexon, flushing all over his cold face. "I never think of school. I was glad when I got away from it. But we were great friends at school, Paul."

"Something after the style of Steerforth and David Copperfield," was Paul's reply as he pushed back his plate. "You were my hero, and I was your slave. But the other boys?" He looked again.

"They hated me because they did not understand me, as you did."

"If that is so, Grexon, why did you let me slip out of your life? It is ten years since we parted. I was fifteen and you twenty."

"Which now makes us twenty-five and thirty respectively," said Hay dryly. "You left school before I did."

"Yes, I had scarlet fever and was taken home to be nursed. I never went back, and since then I have never met an old Torrington boy."

"Have you not?" asked Hay eagerly. "No. My parents took me abroad, and I sampled a German university. I returned to idle about my father's place till I grew sick of doing nothing, and, having ambitions, I came to try my luck in town."

He looked around and laughed. "You see my luck."

"Well," said Hay, lighting a dainty cigarette produced from a gold case, "my uncle, who died, sent me to Oxford, and then I traveled. I am now on my own, as I told you, and haven't a relative in the world."

"Why don't you marry?" asked Paul, with a flush.

Hay, wary man about town as he was, noted the flush and guessed its cause. "My man about town as he was, noted the flush and guessed its cause."

"And I you," Hay drew his friend up the side street and out of the human tide which deluged the pavement. "But you seem—"

"It's a long story," interrupted Paul, flushing. "Come to my castle and I'll tell you all about it, old boy. You'll stay to supper, won't you? See here—"

Paul displayed a parcel—"a pound of sausages. You loved 'em at school, and I'm a superlative cook."

Grexon Hay always used expression and word to hide his feelings. But with Paul—whom he had always considered a generous ass at Torrington school—a trifle of self betrayal didn't matter much. Beecot was too dense and, it may be added, too honest to turn any opportunity to advantage. "It's a most surprising thing," said Hay in his calm way, "really a most surprising thing, that a Torrington public schoolboy, my friend and the son of wealthy parents, should be buying sausages."

"Come, now," said Paul, with great spirit and towing Hay homeward, "I haven't asked you for money."

"If you do, you shall have it," said Hay, but the offer was not so generous as one as would appear. That was Hay all over. He always said what he did not mean and knew well that Beecot's uneasy pride shied at loans, however small.

Paul, the unsophisticated, took the shadow of generosity for its substance, and his dark face lighted up. "You're a brick, Hay," he declared, "but I don't want money. No—this in reply to an eloquent glance from the well to do—"

"I have sufficient for my needs, and besides," with a look at the resplendent dress of the fashion plate dandy, "I don't glitter in the west end."

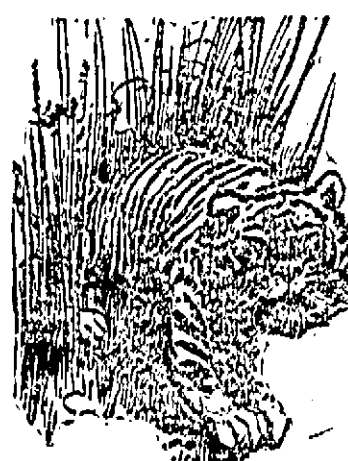

"Which hints that those who do are rich," said Grexon, with an ironic smile. "Wrong, Beecot, I'm poor. Only paupers can afford to dress well."

"In that case I must be a millionaire," laughed Beecot, glancing downward at his well worn garb. "But mount these stairs. We have much to say to one another."

"Much that is pleasant," said the curly Grexon.

Paul shrugged his square shoulders and stepped heavenward. "On your part, I hope," he sang back, "certainly not on mine. Come to poverty castle."

And the fashionable visitor found his host lighting the fire in an apartment such as he had read about, but

Beautiful Hair At Small Cost.

WITHIN the last decade great and rapid strides have been made in Materia Medica. Many diseases that were considered incurable fifteen years ago are now cured in a few days, and in many cases prevented altogether. The scientists of late years have been delving for the cause, the foundation, the reason and the starting point of disease, fully realizing that the actual and true cause must be ascertained before the remedy can be located. Hair troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp, and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment, and when baldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all of its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions).

The natural and logical thing to do in either case is, feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Dr. Knowlton's DANDERINE

is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is identical with the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp. It feeds and nourishes the hair and does all the work originally carried on by the natural nutrients or life-giving juices generated by the scalp itself. It penetrates the pores of the scalp quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities.

One twenty-five-cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself. Now on sale at every drug and toilet store in the land. Three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00.

"She is the daughter of a second-hand bookseller called Norman, and I believe he combines selling books with pawnbroking."

"Hum," said Hay, "he might make money out of the last occupation."

"He is a miserable looking, one-eyed man, with the manner of a frightened rabbit."

"One-eyed and frightened," repeated Hay musingly, but without change of expression "dear father-in-law. And the daughter?"

"Sylvia. She is an angel, a white Lily, a—"

"Of course," said Grexon, cutting short these rhapsodies. "And what do you intend to marry on?"

Beecot fished a shabby blue velvet case out of his pocket. "On my last £30 and this," he said, opening the case. Hay looked at the contents of the case and saw a rather large brooch made in the form of a jeweled serpent. "Opals, diamonds and gold," he said slowly, then looked up eagerly. "Sell it to me."

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

S. S. S. is recognized everywhere not only as the best of all blood purifiers and the greatest of all tonics, but the one medicine that can be taken with absolute safety by everyone. Young or old, those in robust health, or those whose systems are delicate and run-down, may use it with the same good results, and equally without fear of any unpleasant or injurious after effects. Next in importance to removing the cause of any disease is the condition in which the system is left after a course of medical treatment. Medicines containing mercury, potash or other strong mineral ingredients often do permanent injury by eating out the delicate lining and tissues of the stomach, producing chronic dyspepsia, unfavorably affecting the bowels, and so deranging the system otherwise, that even if the original disease had been removed from the system it is left in such a weakened and deranged condition that the health is permanently impaired. S. S. S. enjoys the distinction of being the only blood medicine on the market that does not contain a mineral ingredient of some kind. It is made entirely of the healing, cleansing extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks gathered directly from the forests and fields of nature, under our own supervision, and when they reach our laboratory contain all their original valuable tonic and blood purifying properties. We offer a reward of $1,000 for proof that S. S. S. contains a particle of mineral in any form. Being made entirely from these vegetable ingredients, S. S. S. is absolutely harmless to the system, and while curing disease adds health and strength to every part of the body. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, and all other blood troubles by removing the cause and supplying the circulation with health-giving and strength-producing qualities.

MAKES RECORD DAY'S RUN

LUSITANIA'S BEST REPORTED AS BEING 593 MILES.

Wireless Messages Received from the Giant Cuparder as She Nears New York.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 13.—A wireless message stated that the Lusitania was 100 miles from the Nantucket lightship at nine o'clock Thursday night. She was expected to pass the lightship about one a. m. The weather was clear.

Hallfax, N. S., Sept. 13.—The Marconi wireless station at Cape Sable was in touch with the Cunard liner Lusitania at six o'clock Thursday evening, Atlantic standard time. The Lusitania's position was reckoned at that hour to be 350 miles from New York. The Lusitania was apparently in communication with the big turbine, as the latter reported the Lusitania 250 miles astern.

The average speed of the Lusitania throughout the voyage was announced at 23.86 knots per hour. The highest day's run was 593 miles, which, it was claimed on board the Lusitania, established a new world's record run for one day. Whether the world miles is used in this semi-official statement in a nautical sense is not fairly clear, but presumably this must be the case in order to reconcile the report with one sent out at Sable Island Thursday morning that the Lusitania was averaging 670 miles per day.

In the latter instance land miles were unmistakably implied, and this figure is equivalent to approximately 580 knots, or nautical miles.

New York, Sept. 13.—A dispatch from Hascenot, Mass., says a wireless dispatch received there from the Lusitania timed 8 p. m. Thursday reported the Lusitania 277 miles from Sandy Hook at that hour. This would indicate that the Lusitania cannot reach New York before 9 a. m., and will therefore fail to break the German-held record by an hour or more.

THE STATE FIRE MARSHAL

Says that every farmer should equip his buildings with COPPER lightning rods.

In a bulletin issued Sept. 10, by State Fire Marshal T. M. Purtell, he states the following facts:

That in the first 20 days of the history of his department (created by the last legislature to study the causes and methods of prevention of fires on farms) there were 40 farm fires.

That 29 of these 40 fires were caused by lightning.

That fires started by bolts of lightning were more disastrous than others.

And further:

"A comparison of the losses on buildings which are protected by well constructed lightning rods and those without such protection shows that the lightning rod is almost a positive safeguard against the losses from this cause."

"In the matter of lightning rod construction and the best material as a conductor, the metal most readily available as to cost, considering the conductive power, is copper, as the power is more than five times as great as either iron or steel, and when we consider that an average sized building properly rodged with copper conductor will not exceed $30 in cost, the expense should not be a consideration as compared with the benefits derived."

This report confirms the statements which we have repeatedly made.

Over two hundred thousand buildings have been rodged with the copper cable lightning rod, and not one building so protected was ever damaged by lightning.

We guarantee the Janesville Pure Copper Cable Lightning Rod to be 98 to 99 per cent pure copper.

It has no joints to come apart.
